

---

The provosts reviewed campus trends in first-year retention and four- and six-year graduation rates, noting improved retention post-pandemic. It was noted that comparison to peer groups and the performance of Pell recipients and first-generation college students were provided annually in the June Academic Quality Metrics report.

---

The provosts provided an update on systemwide academic program planning collaboration, with an overview of recent program closures, student-faculty